Southite

The background of the page is a dark, textured surface representing a night sky. It is filled with numerous white, five-pointed stars of varying sizes. In the upper left corner, there is a large, circular moon with a dark, stylized silhouette of a tree or branch across its face. In the upper right corner, a rocket ship is depicted in flight, angled upwards and to the right, with two exhaust trails behind it. In the lower right corner, a large planet with several horizontal rings is shown. In the lower left corner, another planet is visible, featuring a dark, irregular shape on its surface. A faint, curved line, possibly representing a comet or a nebula, stretches across the middle left portion of the page.

Dedication

In dedicating this, our yearbook, to the Future, we, the Senior Class of 1955, would like to acknowledge those who have helped us in the past.

To our parents, we give thanks.

To our teachers, we extend our appreciation.

To God, we bow down in adoration.

To the Future, we adhere.

To Our Graduates:

"Has completed a four year course" is the simple phraseology on your diploma. Yet, simple as it is, it is invested with deeper meaning. It indicates achievement in the fundamental skills; it shows growth in work habits and attitudes; it denotes service to school and community as success in completing another phase of formal learning.

The real significance, however, can be determined in terms of the future. To a greater extent than we realize, we shape our own lives. Whether the job be great or small, the degree of success we achieve in the use of the abilities we have lies within our own hands. Faith, determination and perseverance are controlling factors in making the future.

In wishing you success and happiness we express the hope that your learning may continue, that the education received will be put to good use. May the same high purpose which has brought successful completion of school bring true achievement and success in the future.

Richard C. Grebe

Assistant Principal Howard R. Sorensen, pictured at the right, keeps busy at his numerous duties. Among his many titles are Director of Athletics and Chairman of Student Activities. He also heads the guidance services of the school and is in charge of attendance.

Fragile plants that gather strength
We guess at where, and how, and when—
High School Graduates become at length
The flower of life, the hope of men.

H.R. Sorensen

Counselors

More than any other South faculty members, the counselors deal directly with the future. They work with the students of their respective classes to plan a curricular program which will insure scholastic growth, meet their needs while they are in school, and prepare them for whatever course seems most advisable after graduation.

In addition they aid their counselees in solving personal problems and show them the advisability of continuing their schooling and attending classes regularly.

Junior and senior counselors also assist their charges in obtaining part-time and post-graduation jobs and in securing information on colleges and scholarships.

Miss Mary Louise Beck and Mr. Charles B. Drake, senior counselors, were snapped as they discussed the planned program of one of their 12B students.

This SOUTHITE is another milestone written in South High's history--its record, its progress, its achievements.

You are a part of a vast social organism; each part of which is dependent to a greater or lesser degree on every other part. The same principles which govern the relations of individuals and smaller groups also direct relations between nations. Peace, whether on a national or personal level, can be wrought only when these fundamental loyalties characterize you--loyalty to God, to country, to home, to school. Elements of friction, demoralization, deterioration affect other units in this integrated whole.

You, Seniors of 1955, have had the opportunity to receive, during the course of your education, instruction in these fundamental basic loyalties by which your own personal lives and your social relations should be governed. You can extend a powerful influence in your sphere if you live according to the demands of these responsibilities.

"This above all: to thine own self be true,
And it must follow, as the night the day,
Thou canst not then be false to any man."
(Hamlet I, iii)

Mr. Edwin Dyas

To Miss Mary Louise Beck, head senior sponsor, and her faculty associates, Miss Jean Bressler, Miss Ruth Milford, Mr. Edwin Dyas, and Mr. Roy Long, we, the class of 1955, give thanks for the time and effort granted to us.

Through their services our senior year was made happier and our prospects for the future brighter.

As time goes on, the good will conquer; the willing will succeed; the generous will be rewarded; the cooperative will gain; the considerate will be acknowledged; the humble will be honored; the kind will benefit;
and the dependable will be remembered.

As time goes on, these shall be the leaders. These shall be the men and women who in time of war will serve their country, who in time of peace will serve their community. These will be the backbone of our nation, striving for mutual and united friendship with other nations.

As time goes on, we will blend together in an effort to encourage and emphasize the need for world peace.

Dear Mr. [illegible]
 I have the pleasure to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 19th inst.
 and in reply to inform you that the same has been forwarded to the proper authorities for their consideration. I am, Sir, very respectfully,
 Yours,
 [illegible]

Lally

I don't know exactly how to start this book, but I hope you can read my writing. Isn't it terrible. Look at the neat way these lines are taking shape.

First of all I want to wish you the Best of Everything there is. I won't wish success right now, because I'll take care of that. (all right?)

I'll always remember the swell times we had together both in school and out. I hope they will continue and I'm confident that they will.

I think you are a living doll and any one would be proud to go with you. There isn't much more to say about your looks or figure except WOW!

I hope you move into that house by place. If you do you'll know where I'll be.

Spending my time this summer. Some how the lines on this page become slightly crooked.

I wonder what happened. You get in 1st year. We'll have time there. Sure fly down a nest. Boy I do. Well...

Here it is almost the close of my third year and your second year of Highschool.

Before you know it we'll both be out and then (Who Knows)?!

Summer will probably go fast this year because of Boys State, Football, you, and possibly a trip to Texas.

Boy I sure made a mess out of section of your year book. You'll have to excuse the poor Penmanship.

Not much more to say, in writing that is so I guess your old husband better ~~quit~~ ^{quit} before he gets writers cramp.

Be a good gal and take care of that cold
you got so mysteriously.

Don't look now, but I think the lines
this page are getting crooked too.

Loads of luck and success in everything you attempt to do.

As Always Love Bill.

Don't tell anyone we secretly married.
Don't forget that the post
box is something to look forward to.
Very sincerely yours
